For those teenagers who have made up their minds to listen to no one, there's not much anyone can do for them. To those who have made up their minds to do nothing in their lives, there is not much anyone can do for you until you make up your minds and admit to yourself you need help, then seek Jesus Christ for counsel. This book's intention is to guide young people toward Jesus Christ in daily devotions. You might be one who is looking for answers to your uncertain issues or some unfulfilled need. It might be that your day-to-day life is loaded with weights or brimming with worry as you approach your everyday routine in living. In making this basic book accessible to you, I sincerely trust that the intense messages from God's Word will help you find new expectation and motivation in your life. It does not make a difference what your circumstance or situation might be. The responses to every one of life's issues are contained in the focal book the Holy Bible. This book is not meant to reply in detail to the profound inquiries of the ages. Only the Bible can do that. Be that as it may, it is an initial move toward serving you with a genuine longing to address some of young people's issues or to help you settle your issues. God needs to address your issues, and God has the response to every one of life's issues . . . even for your life. Take time to slowly read and meditate on the words found herein. The Bible says, Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them, that they profiting may appear to all (1 Timothy 4:15). All scripture is taken from the KJV, AV, or TLB versions unless otherwise indicated. In the mighty name of Jesus, May God bless you and keep you is my prayer! Reverend Dr. John Thomas Wylie

Copyright law is a critical issue for authors, librarians, publishers, and information vendors. It is also a complex area, with many shades of gray. Librarians continually need to seek answers to questions ranging from the reproduction of copyrighted works for library users, through the performance of audiovisual works, to the digitization and display of protected works on library websites. This book presents updated versions of the author's copyright columns published in Against the Grain, the leading journal in acquisitions librarianship since the late 1990s. It is the first volume in the series Charleston Insights in Library, Archival, and Information Sciences. The aim of the Charleston Insights series is to focus on important topics in library and information science, presenting the issues in a relatively jargon-free way that is accessible to all types of information professionals, including librarians, publishers, and vendors, and this goal shapes the pragmatic and accessible tone of the book. The volume is presented in question-and-answer format. The questions are real, submitted by librarians, educators, and other information professionals who have attended the author's copyright law workshops and presentations or submitted them to her by e-mail or telephone. The author has selected the questions and answers that have general applicability. She has then arranged them into logical chapters, each prefaced by a short introduction to the topic. Because it is written in an accessible and clear style, readers may want to review the entire work or they can just access particular chapters or even specific questions as they need them. The volume includes an index to facilitate reference use.

What if you could unlock a better answer to your most vexing problem—in your workplace, community, or home life—just by changing the question? Talk to creative problem-solvers and they will often tell you, the key to their success is asking a different question. Take Debbie Sterling, the social entrepreneur who created GoldieBlox. The idea came when a friend complained about too few women in engineering and Sterling wondered aloud: "why are all the great building toys made for boys?" Or consider Nobel laureate Richard Thaler, who asked: "would it change economic theory if we stopped pretending people were rational?" Or listen to Jeff Bezos whose relentless approach to problem solving has fueled Amazon's exponential growth: " Getting the right question is key to getting the right answer. "

Great questions like these have a catalytic quality—that is, they dissolve barriers to creative thinking and channel the pursuit of solutions into new, accelerated pathways. Often, the moment they are voiced, they have the paradoxical effect of being utterly surprising yet instantly obvious. For innovation and leadership guru Hal Gregersen, the power of questions has always been clear—but it took some years for the follow-on question to hit him: If so much depends on fresh questions, shouldn't we know more about how to arrive at them? That sent him on a research quest ultimately including over two hundred interviews with creative thinkers. Questions Are the Answer delivers the insights Gregersen gained about the conditions that give rise to catalytic questions—and breakthrough insights—and how anyone can create them.
